

Become an Australian Migration Support Specialist!

(Australian Visa and Migration Services Career Pathway)

The Australian Migration Support Training Program is personalised training to make you an expert in Australian visas and migration.

When you become expert in Australian visas and migration, you will be able to work for yourself from home, run your own migration consulting business or work remotely for Australian law firms or migration agencies.

This program will not only teach you to become an expert in Australian visas, but will also provide placement opportunities once you have reached basic career competency.

Placements will enable you to keep learning to become a specialist in Australian visas and migration whilst earning an income with Australian law firms or migration agencies.

On completion of the program, you will have enough knowledge and skill to work for yourself, work from home or work remotely for an Australian law firm as a Visa and Migration Support Specialist.

Lawyers are typically busy with different areas of legal practice, such as family law, criminal law, work place law, etc.

The laws and regulations in the areas of legal practice change very little over time, however visa rules and regulations are complex, and change often.

For this reason, law firms across Australia will be seeking visa and migration support specialists who understand complex rules for visas and migration.

This opportunity means that you, as a Migration Support Specialist can,

- Work from home as independent contractor to one or several law firms in Australia;
- Can become a full time remote employee for Australian law firms;
- Work for yourself from home as an independent visa and migration specialist.

Recent Opportunities

Recent changes to Australian industry Regulations has created a new opportunity for offshore and remote support specialists.

Many law firms and independent legal practitioners are now free to provide visa and migration services. Previously, restrictions were in place.

The entrance of law firms to the market has created a need for support specialists who understand complex visa rules.

How it Works

Entering the program requires enrolment. Enrolment requires meeting eligibility requirements and payment of program fees.

Once you have enrolled in the program and program fees have been paid, you will be given a timeline for your personal development.

The personal development timeline will be created for you by the Senior Migration Specialist who will be your personal trainer.

You will begin personal training and instruction by your trainer.

You will learn:

- The structure and procedures of Australian laws for visas and migration;
- The various classes and subclasses of Australian visas, for example, Partner Visas, Work Visas, Skilled Visas, Family Visas, etc;
- How to keep informed of constant changes to migration law and visa requirements;
- How to manage visa applications for clients;
- How to communicate with the Department of Home Affairs for client applications;
- How to write support documents for visa applications;
- And much more.

As your knowledge of Australian visas grows, you will be taught progressively how to work with Migration Agents and Lawyers in professional practice.

When you reach ‘entry-level’ competence, we will then arrange for practical work placements. At first, placements will be unpaid so that you learn the migration business of the employer.

Once you have passed ‘entry-level’ work placement, and commence handling client applications and cases, you will be paid an intern salary.

As your competency and confidence grows as a Migration Support Specialist, we will seek employment placements for you to earn full salary rates (in Australian Dollars).

Eventually, you will be proficient to work full time for an Australian law firm or migration agency as a Migration Support Specialist.

We continue to provide support to you until you are comfortably working for a new employer or operating your own Australian Visa and Migration business.

The in-house method provides the following benefits.

- Ideal for businesses wishing to offer additional services to existing clients whilst keeping full control of the client relationship.
